Rules

This game has four zones each one with three goals. Up to four people can play at a time

Each player takes a wooden hammer and stands behind one of the zones. The ball is set free from the middle of the board, each player defends the goals in front of him and sends the ball back into the opponents zones using the hammer in order to score a goal. The number of goals taken is marked to the right of each player

This game is very old and said to have been played by Vikings.
